Mobile Web

Consumers can find locations using their mobile devices to get maps and driving directions. The iPhone uses the integrated mapping.

Branded Smartphone Applications

Custom Mobile application available for download on the iPhone, Android Devices, and other mobile devices.

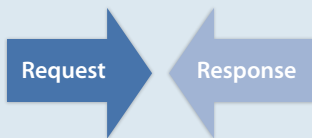

Mobile Marketing Campaigns

Allows you to create and run your own text message marketing campaigns like contests, coupons and specials.

2-Way SMS Text Messaging

Allows consumers to request your location data from their mobile device.

800 Interactive Voice Response

Users can call your 800 number and enter their zip code to find your nearest locations.

Mobile screens are now considered the third screen (TV and PC/Internet are considered the first and second screens.) The potential for marketing to mobile devices is huge. Research indicates there are now over 300 million mobile phones in the US.

Where 2 Get It is a premier provider of location-based services including Web- and mobile-based locator services that empower manufacturers and retailers to connect consumers with where to buy, both online and locally.

More than 550 leading brands use the Where 2 Get It locator technology including Applebee's, Chamberlain, Checkers, Chick-fil-A, ExOfficio, Flemings, Merle Norman, Office Depot, Inc., Outback Steakhouse, Pavilions, Rally's, Safeway, ViewSonic and Vons.

Mobile Web

Our Mobile Web Locator is a wireless version of our Business Locator. Users can get local search results on web-enabled mobile devices like cell phones and PDA. The iPhone uses the integrated mapping. Users can click to call a business on their phone.

- ▶ Same database as the Business Locator
- ▶ Sized to fit a mobile screen/iPhone
- ▶ Match your branding

Branded Smartphone Applications

Consumers will be able to download your custom applications through the various "App Stores" that will include features like: find a location, find a product, coupons, events, etc. Your logo will appear as an icon on the Smartphone to help promote your branding.

Mobile Marketing Campaigns

Mobile Marketing is the use of a mobile device for promoting products and services. Users opt-in to receive your messages which allows you to create a database of mobile numbers. You can have the ability to create and run your own text message marketing campaigns like a contest or voting as well as sending out coupons & specials. This makes your print, TV and radio ads interactive. It is a direct link between you and the customer.

SMS Text Messaging

Short Message Service (SMS), often called text messaging, is a means of sending short messages to and from mobile devices.

▶ Send to Phone (1-Way SMS)

Location details can be sent from your corporate website, via Business Locator, directly to a consumers mobile device.

- Location details – address, phone and driving directions
- Send to Email – Send location details to an email address

▶ LOCATE (2-Way SMS)

Consumers can request location details from their mobile device using SMS text messaging and get a response back.

- Can use Where 2 Get It's LOCATE/562283 common short code (CSC)
 - Allows for faster time to market
 - Reduced entry costs
- Option to use your own standard or custom common short code
- Consumers request location data by text messaging a keyword and their zip code
- Business listing results will be text messaged back to their mobile device
- Consumers can click on the phone link to call the local business

800 Interactive Voice Response (IVR)

IVR will help your customers find the closest place to buy your products and services when they call your 800 number and enter their zip code. The 800 Locator uses the same database as the Business Locator, ensuring the same results are found whether searching for a location online or by phone.

The site, m.flemings100.com, can be accessed using Web-enabled mobile devices and shows wine labels and robust descriptions of each of the 100 wines that make up the "Fleming's 100". Menu information and location contact details can also be found using zip code search. The site premiered at the Aspen Food and Wine Classic in June to rave reviews and continues to receive heavy traffic, with 25 percent of visitors directly accessing the mobile site and 75 percent being directed from search.

"No matter where our guests are traveling, they are now able to find the nearest Fleming's, as well as the perfect wine to round out their dining experience, quickly and easily." -Director of Wine at Fleming's
